Dear Sirs,

Just taking the time to say thank-you for the gospelfest. I watch a minimum of 16 hours of the show. It was GREAT! When will you do it again?

Can you please tell me how I might be able to order some of the tapes you were showing?

Also there was a choir about 2:15 a.m. with the initials GM on the robe, can you tell me the name of the choir? The following are the choirs which came on after them. Angelic Gospel Singers, Soul Children, Jackson Southerners, Charles Johnson, Jay Campbell & The Gospel Ambassadors, Williams Brothers, Mighty Clouds Joy, Florida Mass Choir, Jeff Banks.

Thank-You

Children Programs

Music Is. The colorful and exciting programs of the 10 part Music Is series, comes from the core of the standard musical curriculum and offer children an unmatched combination of aural and visual experiences through which they are introduced to a variety of musical concepts and listening experiences.

Gettin' To Know Me. This series is about the Jacksons, a contemporary Southern Black family who maintain their family's special character by remembering and exploring the African-American folklore that is their heritage.

The prime purpose of this 9 part series is to insure that African-American children not forget their African beginnings. Thus the series' focus is on young Kwame and Lavonne Jackson as they explore the various elements of African folklore that constitute this heritage.

Vegetable Soup I. The programs of this 39 part series are designed to help counter the negative, destructive effects of racial prejudice and racial isolation. This goal is accomplished by reinforcing and dramatizing the positive, life-enhancing value of human diversity through entertaining and affective presentations that children can understand and relate to.

During one of the sequences, a puppet questions and comments: "Why do people have different skin colors? What is race? Imagine hating someone you don't even know!" The issues are tackled head-on, giving young viewers a unique perspective on the world.
